

Across the Pond Scholarship Competition Disclaimer Form

Please read carefully and tick each box as you go.

I promise not to cheat but understand that if ATP suspects and finds evidence of cheating, they reserve the right to remove me from the competition.

I understand that if I “win” the ATP Partner Scholarship that in some cases I cannot also get a second scholarship from that university, but that the university will give me the scholarship worth the most money.

I understand that finalist voting will be done publicly via Facebook and that successful public voting on Facebook necessitates a substantial social media presence and following in the first place in order to “win” a scholarship. I accept this element of the competition.

By submitting a video for this scholarship, I agree to let Across the Pond post my video on their website, YouTube channel, and social media outlets. I also agree that my submission may be used in the future by Across the Pond for marketing purposes.

I agree to follow all copyright rules on the Copyright tab. I will endeavour to abide by all copyright laws in the video I submit, and I understand that unintentional infringement is still infringement. If I use music, I will use music that falls under the Creative Commons license or fair use, and if my video is flagged for copyright reasons, I agree to alter it as needed or accept its removal from consideration for the scholarship.

I have read all the above rules and regulations of this competition as well as everything that is outlined on the Across the Pond website. I promise to abide by all of them.
